LGBT & DV issues: Survivor and Perpetrator Awareness (A modules)

This course can be tailored to explore issues in same sex domestic violence with emphasis on either lesbian, or gay mens issues, or the LGBT communities. We examine how the power and control theories manifest differently in LGBT communities, look at case studies, cultural contexts, and misconceptions. The program also explores the concerns for professionals when working with LGBT survivors and perpetrators of domestic violence.

Aim:

The aim of this course is to provide participants with a firm grounding in domestic violence issues within the context of LGBT relationships. On completion of the course candidates will be able to identify patterns of abusive behaviour, distinguish patterns and support for survivor and perpetrator, have an increased awareness of the impact of stereotypes, and improve practice with Broken Rainbow endorsed risk assessment and safety planning.

Objectives:

A range of learning methods will be used in a workshop setting to increase awareness of LGBT DV issues.

Target Audience:

The programs are aimed at professionals across the domestic violence sector. The police, health care professionals, front line workers, probation and prison officers, helpline workers, refuge workers, solicitors and union shop stewards are some of the professionals who have already received our training.

Training Outcomes:

On completion participants will be able to :

- Define same sex domestic violence
- Recognise abusive behaviour
- Recognise abusive patterns within a LGBT cultural context
- Identify risk factors
- Demonstrate an understanding of the cycle of violence
- Carry out individual risk assessment
- Support survivors
- Address perpetrator/s issues appropriately

Personal Safety Techniques Training (B Modules)

Broken Rainbow can deliver training to a range of professionals working in the front line domestic violence sector.

This training is based around practical personal safety and conflict management techniques.
